We Are...perhaps into one of the most, if not the most, exciting times of the year. We have celebrated Christmas. We are caught up in the glitter, the music, the programs, the parties, and the greetings of the season. This weekend, though, we celebrate the Feast of the Holy Family. This season is all about family and the celebrations are centered on our family, thus, it is good to reflect upon the example the Holy Family gave us. As most know, however, in many families, there seems to be some difficulties. Perhaps, it is important at this time of the year to pause and mend some fences. Mend some fences with a card, a phone call, a plate of cookies, and an “I am sorry.” By being a whole family, we can truly be a holy family. Blessings this Holy Season!
